The Senate Must Not Surrender.

The Senate passed the Chamberlain army bill on April 18 with an amendment making the strength of the regular army 250,000, the provision for a volunteer force of 260,000 being retained. Nineteen days later the House of Representatives rejected of his legal rights. the provision for a volunteer army and refused to consent to an increase of the regular army to 250,000 men. its own figures being 140,000. Midas found all he touched turned to the transportation committee of the Sea Gate Association appearing in the schedule of steamboat service from the Battery to Sea Gate for the coming summer. Church, Glens Falls, a b The schedule shows a boat leaving the Battery pier for Sea Gate at 3:30 P. M. It also advises the inquisitive commuter that on Saturdays "the boat leaving at tion by the middle class is 3:30 P. M. will not run."
